The Audition

Etiquette: Standard professional audition etiquette applies (see: Audition Tips).

Repertoire: Bring thoroughly learned, appropriate material. Art and sacred songs preferred.

Attire: Dress professionally; show music directors you would represent their organizations well.

Vocalizing: Be prepared to sing an exercise that demonstrates your range.

Sight-reading: Jobs are frequently won by the strongest sight-readers. Expect to sight-read both accompanied and unaccompanied excerpts.

Attitude: Be pleasant and respectful; show that you'd be a good ambassador for the organization.

Schedule: Come with your schedule in hand. Music directors often need to book singers months in advance for special events such as weddings, evensongs, and holiday services.

Liturgy: Familiarize yourself with the liturgy and order of service of the organization before you audition (see below for information about different liturgies).

Rehearsal Practices

Preparation: All music should be performance-ready at the first rehearsal. Bring pencils and water to every rehearsal.

Respect: Demonstrate respect for the practices and faith of a religious organization regardless of your own beliefs.

Leadership: Section leaders should be able to coach their sections and respond to singer questions.

Acting as Cantor

Singing leaders, frequently termed Cantors, often perform psalms as soloists. Psalm texts are similar among different religious organizations, but musical settings vary.

- Common Psalms: 23, 33, 42, 112, 116, 128, 130, 143, 148.
