00:53:57 Christina Manceor: Hi Lowell, Peabody has numerous resources around remote teaching here - Keep Teaching webpage - <https://peabody.jhu.edu/keep-teaching>
00:53:58 Mary Ellen Poole: Grateful that we got to see that killer video before her WiFi fizzled!
00:54:32 Christina Manceor: Yes, the recording and chat log will be available in a few days here: <https://peabody.jhu.edu/summer-lunch-and-learn-series>
00:55:24 Mary Ellen Poole: GREAT point about inequity.
00:55:37 Diana Sipes: Thank you for the Butler School recommendations!
00:56:19 Lowell Lybarger: Indeed! Thank you Butler and Peabody!
00:56:57 Louise Dubin: Sorry could you please repost the Butler link- got on late so can't view earlier comments. Thank you!

00:58:13 Emily Freudigman: could you pls repost the Peabody recommendations?

00:58:32 Bridget Carson: It's amazing and wonderful!

00:58:46 Christina Manceor: Peabody's current Return to Campus guidelines can be found here. These are subject change and may be updated periodically :

<https://peabody.jhu.edu/wp-content/uploads/2020/07/Return-to-Campus-Applied-Studies-Policies.pdf>

Peabody's technology recommendations for students can be found here:

<https://peabody.jhu.edu/student-technology-recommendations/>

00:58:49 Patrick Wallen: Links to chat notes, resource, and the recording will be sent to all attendees in a flow-up email tomorrow.

00:58:52 Aleksander Szram: Hi Melody, check out our Trinity Laban Conservatoire of Music and Dance YouTube channel - the Well-Tempered Lockdown is a good place to start, but there are some other projects there

00:58:53 Emily Freudigman: Thank you!

01:00:00 Carina Joly: Good afternoon! Carina Joly, piano and group piano professor at Federal University of São João Del Rei, Brazil

01:00:14 Christina Manceor: In reference to Aleksander's programs, here is a link to the Trinity Laban YouTube channel: <https://www.youtube.com/user/trinitylaban>

01:01:08 Mary Ellen Poole: It's a real shame that the arrangement project isn't able to happen (at least for now).

01:05:38 Thomas Burritt: Yes. Gear out very important.

01:06:31 Gretchen Hary: YES!!!! My students use the toms on their drum set in place of timpani.

01:07:44 Thomas Burritt: Yes, students really learn by watching themselves play.

01:08:49 Hannah Smith: Bob sounds like a wise man to me!

01:08:49 Aleksander Szram: Hi Ireneus! I will pass on your message to Douglas.

01:08:50 Jill Grove: amen

01:08:55 Rose grace: yes, the most positive aspect of this situation has been to encourage our students to actually listen and use critical thinking to evaluate their progress and performance!

01:09:02 Caterina Bristol: We have been exploring GoReact for our dance faculty, which allows for video annotation, think adjudicators tapes from district band/choir competition. The University of Minnesota also has an app they created that does video annotation

01:09:05 elvia Puccinelli: Teaching them how to teach themselves - "courage" "self-analysis" - Beautifully said, Bob! Thank you!

01:10:04 Joshua Thomas: How are people approaching teaching non-major students that do not necessarily have the same goals or capacity as a typical music major? What type of goals and expectations are you setting online?

01:10:31 Caroline Schiller: Question: What do you find is the best platform for students to upload and share recordings?

01:10:42 Kay Stonefelt: yes, I found score study and singing to be very helpful with timpani. Technical I referred them to the practice pads

01:10:58 ANNA MARIA MARZULLO: Thanks so much, Bob. You speak my mind. How lucky your students are to have you!

01:11:11 Caterina Bristol: <https://ant.umn.edu/>

01:12:01 Rose grace: Caroline, I use either private YouTube channel or google drive to upload recordings, since the size can be large to send via email - it works quite well and everyone has access to this platform

01:13:10 Caroline Schiller: Thank you

01:14:34 Jill Grove: Thank you for that Denyce

01:16:22 Rose grace: Thank you for saying that online experiences while different, have also been very rewarding!

01:19:40 Lowell Lybarger: Just one suggestion: Reach out to electronic musicians if you know any of them. They have been collaborating remotely for years now...Berklee Online is pretty much the leading online music school...I did their certificate program in electronic music production and discovered a vast online community (and experienced a musical reincarnation). <https://welcome.online.berklee.edu/learn-music-online.html>

01:19:43 Christina Manceor: To help us keep track and curate your questions, please place them in the Q&A tab.

01:20:05 Janina Ehrlich: I had two cello students participate in the Cincinnati Virtual Cello Academy. This is leading to prospective grads programs!

01:23:22 Christina Manceor: The recording of last week's seminar on Chamber Music and Instrumental Ensembles in a Remote Learning Environment can be found here: <https://youtu.be/N5APIE2Lkbl>

01:23:57 Christina Manceor: More details and all past webinars can be viewed asynchronously here: <https://peabody.jhu.edu/summer-lunch-and-learn-series>

01:29:26 Mary Ellen Poole: Agreed that our community as artists and teachers and arts leaders is stronger than ever. What will we do with that?

01:29:32 Jill Grove: yes! thank you for that

01:29:37 Diana Sipes: Amen!

01:29:53 Carol Dallinger: AMEN, Bob. Thank you!

01:30:17 Rose grace: thank you for that, Bob!

01:30:19 Andrea Loewy: Thank you for the amazing conversations.

01:30:25 Jill Grove: yep

01:30:35 Prof. Darlene Wiley: Great to know!!!

01:31:06 Carol Dallinger: This session has been awesome! Thanks to all artist teachers for their sharing and wisdom!

01:31:14 Ireneus Zuk: Thanks to you all for this session. I have found this and previous ones very inspiring!

01:31:25 Janet Welby: Thank you for a great session.

01:31:47 Robin Guy: Yes, Bob, your wisdom has come with your age! Your comments are supreme! Thank you.

01:32:06 Jill Grove: yep, pushing us out of our own boxes and comfort zones

01:32:06 Jeanne Fischer: Thank you so much to Peabody and all of these wonderful panelists for a very helpful session.

01:32:08 Ruth Baker: Thank you to Peabody for providing this experience.

01:32:08 Mary Ellen Poole: This was an unexpectedly touching session. Thank you, Dean Abra and the Peabody team, for pulling together some amazing human beings in this moment.

01:32:27 Christine Abraham: Yes, amazing humans! Thank you for this inspiring session.

01:32:50 elvia Puccinelli: Agreed! Very inspiring and very grounding!

01:32:51 Ames Asbell: Thank you, all - great and affirming conversations!

01:32:55 Carol Dallinger: Thanks so much to Dean Abra and Peabody team. Awesome and helpful!

01:32:58 Whitman Brown: Fantastic Panel, thank you all!

01:32:59 Lowell Lybarger: Great session...much gratitude.

01:33:00 Milissa Carey: Thank you all for the info and thoughtful, insightful discussion. I'm inspired to creatively move ahead. Amazing humans, indeed!

01:33:01 Miriam Charney: Thank you so much for these inspirational sessions - each one has been specific and then generally focussed as well. THANK YOU!

01:33:04 Delaine Leonard: Thank you, thank you. This was one of the best sessions yet!

01:33:08 Patti Wolf: Thank you for this inspiring session!

01:33:08 Ken French: Thank you - wonderful wisdom!

01:33:16 Emily Koh: Thanks everyone. These webinars have been awesome!

01:33:17 Jill Grove: thank you so much Peabody and the panelists

01:33:21 Elsa Lankford: Thank you - this has been helpful for teaching other creative subjects on line as well.

01:33:27 Stephen Page: Fantastic panel! Thank you for sharing your time and experiences with all of us.

01:33:28 Jihong Adams-Park: Thank you all for your time sharing valuable information.

01:33:37 Karen Fosheim: Thanks for another inspiring session. This was a wonderful way to complete the series.

01:33:38 Jill Grove: A slow moment!!

01:33:44 Ellen Sonnenberg: Thank you!

01:33:45 Louise Dubin: Fantastic panel, yes, thank you all.

01:33:46 Lester Green: Thank you! (Proud Peabody Alum!, 97, 99)

01:33:50 Thomas Burritt: Yes. Thank you all!

01:33:58 Dorothy Lee: Thanks for your collective wisdom, insight, and joy in teaching!

01:34:00 Amanda Duncan: thank you!

01:34:00 Prof. Darlene Wiley: Thank you!

01:34:01 John Hancock: Well done

01:34:01 Wendy Lanxner: Thank you - wonderful session!

01:34:01 Caroline Schiller: Thank you all

01:34:03 Han Dewan: Thank you, this was lovely!
